Undergraduate Research Opportunity
Data Science + Neuroscience

Experience, Memory and Knowledge Lab
Department of Psychology

Are you interested in Learning about large-scale neural data
Learning how to create efficient data pipelines
Digging through data to find interesting patterns

Do you have
Curiosity for neuroscience, data science and engineering
Maths and stats skills
Coding experience in Python

The lab is seeking motivated undergraduates. The position is ideal if you have a quantitative background (CS/Math/Stats) and are interested in gaining experience with neural data analysis.

The lab aims to understand the neurophysiological mechanisms that enable the creation of memory and knowledge from experience.

Visit voices.uchicago.edu/jaiyu
Email Dr. Jai Yu contact_jai@uchicago.edu